

Brooks McCall Cruise 21

Sample Logs

Read Me

The station location logs and water sample logs collected each day on the Brooks McCall Cruise 21 were incorrectly all given the same name, containing the date of Sept. 3rd in the file name (i.e., 9_03_2010_BrooksMcCall_Locations). Ship technicians forgot to update the file names each day when the date changed. Thus there are three water sample logs with the same file name, and three station location logs with the same file name, but each file contains data from a different day. In order to preserve data in their original forms, these file names were not amended after the cruise. To make the differing contents clear, sample logs have been placed in different subfolders in this directory organized by date.